

Forum Acusticum Euronoise 2025 is pleased to announce a novelty compared to previous editions: an open call for Structured Sessions. Thus, the organizing committee is seeking high quality Structured Sessions that will be incorporated into the regular congress program. A priori, the proposed Structured Sessions have to be associated to a specific Main Theme. Please, see <https://www.fa-euronoise2025.org/structured-sessions-2> for a complete list of Main Themes.

The proposers have to provide this information about the Structured Session:

- Structured Session Title
- Brief description and motivation. Proposers should emphasize why this topic is of interest for the Forum Acusticum Euronoise community.
- Associated Main Theme. Proposers can select up to two options, identifying their preferences.
- Short Bio of the proposer(s).
- If possible, a short list of potential contributors that would submit a paper to this Structured Session in case of acceptance. This last point is not mandatory, but it would serve to assess the potential interest of the proposal.

Once the committee evaluates the proposed Structured Sessions, accepted ones will be incorporated to the list of sessions published on the web, highlighting the condition of Accepted Structured Session. Hence, authors will be able to select these Structured Sessions in the paper submission process. The received papers will be evaluated via the same processes and standards as those utilized with submissions to the regular program. Finally, an accepted Structured Session will be incorporated into the congress program in case of enough number of accepted submissions. Otherwise, organizers will try to complete the Structured Session with similar regular papers (if possible), or accepted papers will be reallocated into other sessions of the regular program.
